Dr. Peter and Dr. Robin are the parents of David and Brian Adesman, Esq.; Dr. Michael and Dr. Susan are the parents of Jennifer and Nicole; Dr. Andrew and Angela Romano-Adesman, MD are the parents of Marisa, Danielle Adesman, PA-C, and Jason. [F2] [F3]

Siblings are shown in birth order. Brian Adesman, Esq. is married to Krystal, and Jennifer is also married. [F1] [F3] [F5]

02 / DR. JEROME AND ALICE

The story begins here

Jerome Adesman, MD

Medicine and a published record

Jerome Adesman, MD was a physician and the father of Dr. Peter, Dr. Michael, and Dr. Andrew. A 1954 article in the Journal of Clinical Investigation names Jerome Adesman, MD among the authors of a study of hydrocortisone metabolism. The research team lists affiliations including Sloan-Kettering and Columbia. [F1] [F2] [S1]

Brooklyn College's 2008-2009 annual report names Dr. Jerome and Alice together among commemorative-brick supporters. [S9]

Alice Katzka Adesman

Opening doors to education and work

Alice's maiden name was Katzka. A 1950 Brooklyn marriage-license index pairs Alice Katzka with Jerome Adesman, MD. She and Dr. Jerome raised three sons: Dr. Peter, Dr. Michael, and Dr. Andrew. [F2] [F4] [S31]

Alice helped build LaGuardia Community College's early enrollment. The college's institutional history identifies her as director of admissions and credits recruitment under her leadership with broadening the second entering class in September 1972. It also includes a captioned portrait of her. [S3]

In December 1985, the Rhode Island Herald reported that Alice had taken a year's leave from her role overseeing admissions and international students at LaGuardia. She was coordinating a New York Association for New Americans project that helped older refugees find work through language instruction, vocational guidance, and training in Brooklyn and the Bronx. [S4]

New York and Florida were both part of Dr. Jerome and Alice's family life. [F1]

03 / THEIR SONS AND SPOUSES

Peter William Adesman, MD & Robin Miller, MD

Dr. Peter and Dr. Robin are the parents of David and Brian Adesman, Esq. Brian Adesman, Esq. is married to Krystal. [F1] [F2]

Peter William Adesman, MD

A physician's life, with wine alongside it

Dr. Peter is a gastroenterologist whose University of Illinois medical degree dates to 1979. In 2003 he coauthored a published study of sedation across 9,152 endoscopic procedures at a Southern Oregon surgery center. His medical work has its own documentary trail alongside the wine story. [S25] [S30]

Dr. Peter's vineyard biography traces his interest in wine to the mid-1970s. He planted the vineyard with his wife, Robin Miller, MD, in 2013. Dr. Peter and Dr. Robin are the parents of David and Brian Adesman, Esq. [S6] [F2]

A 2011 Oregon Wine Press profile places their move from New York to Oregon in 1991 and describes the monthly blind tastings Dr. Peter hosted. A 2019 feature reports that the vineyard's first commercial harvest supplied the 2016 vintage. [S5] [S7]

An oral-history interview recorded by Rich Schmidt at Linfield University on July 31, 2023 preserves his story. The 1-hour, 3-minute, 14-second recording covers medicine, travel, wine education, and starting the vineyard. [S8]

Robin Miller, MD

Medicine, writing, and a life in motion

Robin Miller, MD, works in internal and integrative medicine. She and Dr. Peter are the parents of David and Brian Adesman, Esq. The Oregon Medical Board records her University of Illinois medical degree in 1979. Her University of Arizona integrative-medicine fellowship followed in 2003, and she began opening Triune Integrative Medicine in 2006. [F2] [S26] [S27]

Her public education work includes books, the health series Is There a Doctor in the House, and interviews for HealthDay. Dance is another part of her life: Peter William Vineyard credits Dr. Robin's dancing as the inspiration for its Dance Series wines, including Robin's Rumba. She and Dr. Peter planted the vineyard in 2013. [S28] [S29] [S6]

Her published works include Kids Ask the Doctor; The Smart Woman's Guide to Midlife and Beyond, coauthored with Janet Horn; Healed! Health & Wellness for the 21st Century, with David Kahn; and Heal Now: Time to Unsick Yourself. Her A Healthy Journey with Dick and Jane series includes accessible guides to general health, the gut, skin, bones and joints, and menopause. [S28] [S37] [S38]

03 / THEIR SONS AND SPOUSES

Michael Adesman, MD & Susan Weil, MD

Dr. Michael and Dr. Susan are the parents of Jennifer and Nicole. Jennifer is married. [F2] [F3]

Michael Adesman, MD

Cardiology and a commitment to medical research

Michael Adesman, MD, is the second of the three sons of Jerome Adesman, MD, and Alice Katzka Adesman. He is married to Susan Weil, MD; their daughters are Jennifer and Nicole. Brown University records him as undergraduate class of 1979 and medical class of 1982; a 2020 Crozer Health brochure lists him as a staff cardiologist. [F2] [F3] [F5] [S18] [S17]

In January 2022, the University of Michigan identified Dr. Michael as president of the Weil Family Foundation in announcing support for its critical-care research institute. This work connects Dr. Michael and Dr. Susan's family with the medical legacy of Dr. Susan's father, Max Harry Weil. [S19]

Weil family legacy

Susan Weil, MD

Medicine and the Weil family legacy

Susan Weil, MD is Dr. Michael's wife and Jennifer and Nicole's mother. She is an obstetrician-gynecologist. [F2] [F3] [S20]

The University of Michigan identifies Dr. Susan as Max Harry Weil's elder daughter and a Weil Family Foundation board member. The institute bearing her father's name carries forward his work in critical-care medicine. This is an additional ancestral branch for Jennifer and Nicole, separate from the Adesman paternal line. [S19]

03 / THEIR SONS AND SPOUSES

Andrew Adesman, MD & Angela Romano-Adesman, MD

Dr. Andrew, also called Andy, and Angela Romano-Adesman, MD are the parents of Marisa, Danielle Adesman, PA-C, and Jason. [F2] [F3]

Andrew Adesman, MD

Developmental pediatrics and support for families

Andrew Adesman, MD, known as Andy, is the youngest of the three sons of Jerome Adesman, MD, and Alice Katzka Adesman. He is married to Angela Romano-Adesman, MD; their children are Marisa Adesman, Danielle Adesman, PA-C, and Jason Adesman. His public work centers on developmental and behavioral pediatrics; a 2018 institutional release identifies him as then chief of that division at Cohen Children's Medical Center. [F2] [F3] [F5] [S15]

With Christine Adamec, he wrote The Grandfamily Guidebook, published in 2018 for grandparents raising grandchildren. Its research foundation included a study of more than 700 grandparents. The American Academy of Pediatrics also credits him with developing the ADHD Medication Guide, a visual resource for clinicians. [S14] [S15] [S16]

Marisa Adesman

An artist finding the extraordinary in everyday things

Marisa Adesman is the eldest child of Andrew Adesman, MD, and Angela Romano-Adesman, MD, and the sister of Danielle Adesman, PA-C, and Jason. She earned a BFA in painting and psychology from Washington University in St. Louis in 2013 and an MFA in painting from Rhode Island School of Design in 2018. [F3] [F5] [S21]

Her paintings transform familiar domestic objects into strange, theatrical scenes. In a university interview, she connects this work to unseen domestic labor and women's experience. Her exhibitions include The Birth of Flowers at KMAC Contemporary Art Museum in Louisville in 2023, and Under the Rose, her first New York solo exhibition, at Anat Ebgi in 2025. What does Adesman mean?

The Dictionary of American Family Names discusses Adesman under the entry Ades. It leaves two possibilities unresolved: a connection to the Yiddish name for Odessa, or to a name derived from Eyde. That is a linguistic lead, not proof of this family's birthplace, religion, or migration route. [S11]
